Summary

Started my carrier as a python developer, and then had an opportunity to work as Data Engineer. I also have knowledge about AI and Data Science, building models by integrating these solutions into my projects. I like to play around with new ideas and concepts that could help improve myself as a Data scientist. In addition to my work experience, I am passionate about technology in general. My curious nature keeps me learning new things, and applying them. That is the very reason I quit my last job and started pursuing my M.Tech in CSC AL&ML. I wish to apply this knowledge I acquired now in the coming future, it makes me feel so excited, and I am looking forward to it.
